The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1,6,8 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Boyer or Sharp in view of either Kavesh et al or McCall et al. Boyer and Sharp show the claimed strap with the exception of the heat-shrunken elongation member. Kavesh and McCall teach elongation members heat-shrunken to exhibit superior properties. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the elongation members of either Boyer or Sharp to be heat-shrunken, as taught by either Kavesh or McCall, to exhibit superior properties of their elongation members.

Claims 2 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Boyer or Sharp and either Kavesh or McCall, as applied to claims 1 and 8 above, and further in view of Piper, Chang et al or Silverberg. Piper, Chang and Silverberg teach the use of binder yarns as a connecting means. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide binder yarns to either Boyer or Sharp, as taught by Piper, Chang or Silverberg, as a connecting means for their elongation members to their outer sheaths.

Claims 3-5,7,10-12 and 14-22 have been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 5/30/06.
